Thank you!!!

Life sure takes it's turns. I have just signed up to start Medicare this year! Wait, WHAT?!

I was invited to do a special kid's lesson at a Calvary Chapel in our area. What a joy and a privilege! We did the story of Zacchaeus. We played a review game of tossing coins in containers. I was standing, squatting, standing, squatting.... deep knee bends, who's idea was that?! At the end of the first class, my legs were a little wobbly. WOW, am I out of shape! At the end of the second, I could hardly walk! My upper legs were in pain for the next two days!Medicare..... hummmm.

It is already getting warm here in Arizona. Hit 88° the other day. So, making crochet hats to give to the homeless people will not be needed until December... BUT in Rochester, NY there is still snow and wind! A friend and fellow OAC worker has a couple kids clubs in some lower income areas. So, off to Rochester went a box of handmade, colorful hats for her to use to bless her Bible Club kids! GOD is GOOD! Thank you Kim and Michelle for helping me learn how to do that!

A friend and Co-worker in Texas needed some help in preparing some sketches for his work there. There are about 40ish sketches that have been sent or will soon be sent. Thank you, Chip and Kim for allowing me to come beside you in your ministry! May God use Chip and this artwork to encourage many to trust GOD.

Please pray for Chris and I. His health has taken a turn as he struggles with unsteadiness. I need prayer for how to best care for him. What ministry needs to be put on hold... JUST HAPPENED! Chris spent 3 days in the hospital... I stayed with him. He has some blood clots in his lungs so they have flooded his system with blood thinner to try and dissolve the clots. Now there are meds that must be taken twice a day. Please pray that I could be a loving, capable caregiver and be an encouragement to him. Pray too for wisdom in dealing with the unsteady issues...

I praise God for giving me opportunities to serve him right here in the ways described above and with Sunday School, Awana and a weekly video that can be seen on Youtube. Within the next two months, I hope to have my OAC friend, Erin, visit and do some ministry with her as GOD enables. It will also be a joy to have my sister visit and stay for a little while, Lord willing! Perhaps we can do another song video! FUN. Thank you for your prayer and support!
