EVANGELISM NEWS
JULY 2023

We must work the works of him who sent me while it is day; night is coming, when no one can work.

John 9:4

Hey Friends, we hope all is well with you and yours.

Jesus made the above statement to His disciples after healing the man who was born blind. Likewise, He has saved us to go to work for Him. We may not physically heal anyone, but he has given us a glorious gospel of grace to share with the world. When someone understands their need for a Savior, repents and believes the good news then God will forgive them and bring them spiritual and emotional healing and forever change them and their eternal destiny! So that's our job, not to save people, we can't do that, but to present them the truth of what God has done through His Son and let the Holy Spirit do whatever work He chooses to do in their hearts. We all have a part to play in the work of the kingdom and we couldn't do our part the way we do, without all of you doing your part.

So, here's what our part has looked like in the last several months. We went to Mardi Gras in New Orleans where we preached, handed out thousands of tracts, and had many conversations and seven people made professions of faith within the group of 41 men we were affiliated with.

Locally, We did presentations to children's groups, youth groups, dad's and son's groups, VBS groups, homeless shelter groups, two churches, two colleges, a Christian school chapel service, and preaching in all of our regular spots around the DFW Metroplex, as well as two mini-training sessions with four different men

Also, we were blessed to have two of the leaders of OAC come to Dallas to help us explore options for future ministry and possible training venues. Thanks so much to Tom Fox and Brian Harmon for taking the time to come and for being such an encouragement to Dovie and myself.

As always, thanks to all of you for your friendship, prayers and support. We know you do kingdom work in other ways as well, but we are grateful that you include helping us as part of the work you do! Let's all keep up the work; it's getting darker, and night is definitely coming! Enjoy our visual aids from various locations.

Please pray for us, spiritual battles are real!

Preston, a 16 year old volunteer boldly sharing the gospel at ATT.

Michael-Praying with the man in the hat at Klyde Warren Park. Bella the Evangedoodle is waiting patiently.

Moises having a long conversation with a Muslim man in the hat. Sometimes you just want to get them to doubt one thing in their faith or understand Christianity better.

This young mom from Eastern Europe was quite interested in what I had to say concerning eternal life. She took literature for her and her children.

The sketch-board got this boy's attention and seems as though God did also. As Dovie shared the gospel, he said he understood his sin and his need for Jesus and he wanted to turn from his sin and trust in Jesus as his Savior.

Dovie spoke with this young girl and her mother and confirmed that both of them were professing Christians. She gave this young girl a unique Gospel of John and challenged her to read a chapter a day for 21 days.

Here's 16 year old Houston engaging a professing Christian and a girl she is "bringing closer to God" but she has never mentioned her sin to her because it's all about love and grace. She later admitted that she wouldn't mention "sin" to a dying man. No love in that gospel!

This man was Muslim but his girlfriend was not. They both listened intently as she asked quite a few questions and we had a good conversation.

This was at an apartment complex where we did an outreach to the community, many of whom were refugees from Nepal.

Dovie and I did a presentation to some of the youth at our church earlier in the year.

Here's Chip doing a hangman puzzle at a kids club in a trailer park in Midlothian. It wasn't well attended due to scheduling but we're going back later this Summer.

In Bishop Arts, the board drew quite a crowd, but we were short on Evangelists.. so I preached the riddle to all of them. We had some good conversations afterward.

We took time off to attend our youngest granddaughter's graduation in Katy. She did two years of work in just one year. Way to go Kaeliin!
